Ask Uncle Elky

I thought last winter was tough, but this winter we really have some bragging rights. We've had more snow than I can remember in a long time. The wind and snow closed U.S. 285 a record 17 times. But, if you were safely nestled into your cabin with the wood stove glowing with hot embers, it was a wondrous sight to look out at the glistening white and the fascinating sculptured snow caused by those frosty winds. I slept through most of it, but woke to the beauty that only winter can produce.

Now there are signs of spring in the air. Yes, Remington and Elkhorn roads are a muddy mess, but the sound of water flowing from the melting snow and the warm glow of the sun, means that Spring is on the way.

“For winter's rains and ruins are over,
And all the season of snows and sins;
The days dividing lover and lover,
The light that loses, the night that wins;
And time remembered is grief forgotten,
And frosts are slain and flowers begotten,
And in green underwood and cover
Blossom by blossom the spring begins.”

Algernon Charles Swinburne

“Over here in Denver
Where the Plains surrender
Fragile blooms of yellow and white
Are stepping out, into sunlight

Playing odds that winter's dead
To volunteer a flower bed
Weeds and grass are in a rush
To make it coarse or make it plush

Mother Earth's mountain breast
Melt and milk the magpie nest
The swelling banks once panned for metals
Now have skiers that switched to pedals.

Over all the mountains sing
Winter's over – welcome Spring.”

A motion to approve the Treasurer's report was made by Cindy Gharst and seconded. The treasurer's report was approved unanimously.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Election process

Ann Bridgewater distributed a sample ballot form proposed for the 2008 election. She explained the process the Election Committee will follow to track the eligible voting members. The ballot will be mailed to all members, but the Election Committee will verify returned ballots against the list of members with paid or unpaid dues. Ann also reported the cost of production of the ballot to be close to $60. Some options for bulk mailing are to use PineMailers or go through the Chamber of Commerce, which costs $25 to rejoin. After discussion about the benefits of the Chamber of Commerce, the Board agreed to rejoin.

A motion to rejoin the Chamber of Commerce for $25 for this year was made by JoAn Nall and seconded. The motion was approved unanimously.

Maintenance/Security

Terry Shumaker was unable to attend this meeting; however, he does request to put something in the newsletter about volunteers for upcoming projects

Newsletter

There was discussion about some members not receiving the last newsletter electronically and resending some newsletters or putting out a notice to contact us if no newsletter was received. The Board also discussed the cost of the newsletter and the reduction of advertising space to three pages.

Social Committee

No report

Welcome Committee

Deb Van Gundy reported sending out packets to 23 new owners in 2007; 20 new owners from April 1, 2007 through current. She still has $72 cash available and needs Neighborhood Watch signs. Kim at JCFPD is her contact for the signs.

Architectural Committee

Art Burnham reported that he received one call since the last meeting, but no action was required.

Neighborhood Watch Committee

Earlier during the meeting, Bob Bridgewater announced that Georgia Comstock will take over this committee replacing Rhonda Garrett.

OLD BUSINESS

By-Law Changes

As a follow up from the last meeting, Cindy Gharst advised that she did review the by-laws, identifying the sections which should be updated to include more modern methods of communication, posting procedures for meetings, etc. The next step is to prepare a draft of revised by-laws for these "housekeeping" changes. Cindy and Mike Flower planned to look at other owner association by-laws as models for some of these changes.

The next meeting will be April 12th at the Bridgewater residence.

With no other business to discuss, the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
Cindy Gharst, Secretary

THE HISTORY OF SOUTH PARK

Some Historical Trivia

Whiskey Hole: An Early-Day Economic Welfare Program – Free Mining for the Unlucky

One of the most impressive gold discoveries in the so-called “Pikes Peak Gold Rush” of 1858 was at Tarryall on the edge of South Park. Prospectors who got there first rubbed their eyes in amazement. In the course of an old creek channel there were “scales of gold as big as watermelon seeds”.

After this initial boom, though, it became more difficult to find the gold dust. Going upstream to find the mother lode, a few of the men were fortunate. Other newcomers were unable to find any pay dirt at all. There was one good source, however. It was called the Whiskey Hole.

Old vets of several months began to feel sorry for the newcomers. They set aside the Whiskey Hole as a place where only destitute prospectors could pan for their whiskey. Hundreds of men found enough duct to handle their accounts at the nearby saloon.

Eventually, there was so much claim-jumping going on in the Tarryall mining district that, when new finds were found on the other side of the mountain, most sourdoughs moved over there. It was decided at the outset in this camp that any infringement on another’s claim would be dealt with in the most severe manner. Thus, they named the new camp Fairplay.

This Tree was Alive When Socrates Taught – Volcanic Ash at South Park in 1815

According to the U.S. Geological Survey, the oldest tree in Colorado is located above the town of Fairplay. It is a bristlecone pine which is well over 2,400 years of age. It was found by researcher Craig Brunstein in 1990. While still alive, it shows its age, with only a few small branches of live needles stemming from bark which is now sixteen inches thick.

It had its beginnings at a time when the Athenians lost the Peloponnesian War to the Spartans and the Hanging Gardens of Babylon were still growing. Its tree rings have revealed droughts and cold spells through the ages, giving scientists knowledge of long-time climate patterns in the mountains of central Colorado. As an example, the tree rings indicate a record cold spell around 1815, when volcanic ash in the atmosphere around the world kept the snow falling even in summer above South Park.

The exact location of the tree is being kept secret so that it will not be vandalized.
